CORRIGENDA

We regret that because of a technical error the following misprints appeared in the reviews by Christian Lindtner in first volume of this journal (1988), pp. 102ff:

p. 102,l. 7: for "Sāktyāyana's" read "Sānkṛtyāyana's"

p. 103, l. 23: for "ida" read "idam"

p. 106, l. 40: read "idam pratyayatā"

p. 108, l. 16: read "Page 394: upalakṣaṇā"

We apologize for these omissions.

Besides its journal, Studies in Central and East Asian Religions, The Seminar for Buddhist Studies also publishes individual works on Buddhist Studies and Asian Religions. The following works are scheduled for publication as detailed:

Esoteric Buddhism in Japan. Selected Papers from Two SBS Gatherings on Esoteric Buddhism. Edited by Ian Astley-Kristensen. Foreword by Matsunaga Yukei. Autumn 1990, pp. c. 200.

The Esoteric Buddhist Tradition. Selected Papers from the 1989 SBS Conference. Edited by Henrik H. S0rensen. Spring 1991, pp. c. 200.

Authors are invited to submit their work for consideration for publication in the series. The monographs will normally be between 100 and 250 pages in length, but items of special merit which fall outside these limits will also be considered. Authors' attention is drawn to the following condition: for economic reasons, work for publication as a monograph must be submitted in electronic form. Please write to the Editors for a copy of our Guidelines for Submission on Diskette.

SBS Monographs are to be distributed by Aarhus University Press, Universitetsparken, 8000 Aarhus C, Denmark, from whom information on ordering and payment is available.

Studies in Central and East Asian Religions is published once yearly by The Seminar for Buddhist Studies, Copenhagen & Aarhus (Denmark). The Editors welcome scholarly contributions which cast light on religious phenomena in the area encompassing Tibet and Central Asia, Mongolia, China, Korea, and Japan. Despite the name of our organization, this journal is intended to cover all aspects of religious life in the specified area. In addition, a wide variety of standpoints—e.g. philosophic, linguistic, historical, anthropological and sociological—will be accommodated.

General guidelines for the submission of typescripts are as follows: articles (c. 25–30 pages in length) are to be written on A4 paper (one side), with a wide left margin (40mm) and an ample right margin (20mm). Pitch should be 10cpi, with double line spacing. Footnotes are to be indicated clearly in the text (numbered continuously), and enclosed on separate sheets at the end of the article. Prior to publication, authors will receive one draft copy for corrections, on which only minor changes will be allowed. On publication, authors will receive ten offprints of their articles, plus one copy of the whole issue, free of charge.

Material will be accepted in English, French or German. Writers who use Chinese, Korean or Japanese sources are requested to append the characters quoted on separate sheets, with a clear indication of where the relevant characters belong in the text. Superscript letters are to be used in this case. A separate List of Characters, in alphabetical order, is also permissible.

Authors are encouraged to submit articles written on floppy diskette. These should be in ASCII file format (i.e. no word-processing codes), readable by MS-DOS or PC-DOS, and normally c. 60–70 Kb. A printed version must be submitted at the same time (letter or near-letter quality). Macintosh files are also permissible, but please submit good hard copy. Further details on submission in diskette form—including information on conventions for diacritical marks and other accents—can be had from the Editors.

Guidelines for transcription: for Sanskrit, Pali and other South Asian languages use the standard system given in A. L. Basham, The Wonder That Was India, Appendix X; for Chinese use the Pinyin system, for Japanese the modified Hepburn system. The standard devised by McCune-Reischauer, "The Romanization of the Korean Language", Transactions of the Korean Branch, Royal Asiatic Society 29 (1939), pp. 1–55, is to be used for Korean. For Tibetan, use the transcription proposed by T. Wvlie, "A Standard System of Tibetan Transcription", Harvard Journal of Asian Studies 22 (1959), pp. 261–7, or a transcription based on the system devised by H. A. Jäschke. Finally, for Mongolian use the system found in Antonie Mostaert, Dictionnaire Ordos, pp. 769–809.

The deadline for the submission of typescripts is the 31st of March in the year of publication. Material for the Forum section (5–10 pages/10–20Kb) and reviews may be submitted up to the 31st of July. Material submitted after these dates can only be included at the discretion of the Editors.
