

Studies in Central and East Asian Religions is published once yearly by The Seminar for Buddhist Studies, Copenhagen (Denmark). The Editors welcome scholarly contributions which cast light on religious phenomena in the area encompassing Tibet and Central Asia, Mongolia, China, Korea, and Japan. Despite the name of our organization, this journal is intended to cover all aspects of religious life in the specified area. In addition, a wide variety of standpoints—e.g. philosophic, linguistic, historical, anthropological and sociological—will be accommodated.

General guidelines for the submission of typescripts: articles (c.20–30 pages in length) are to be typewritten on A4 paper (one side), with ample margins. Pitch should be 10cpi, with double line spacing. Footnotes are to be indicated clearly in the text (numbered continuously), and enclosed on separate sheets at the end of the article. Prior to publication, authors will receive one draft copy for corrections, on which only minor changes will be allowed. On publication, authors will receive ten offprints of their articles, plus one copy of the whole issue, free of charge.

Material will be accepted in English, French or German. Writers who use Chinese, Korean or Japanese sources are requested to append the characters quoted on separate sheets, with a clear indication of where the relevant characters belong in the text. Superscript letters are to be used in this case. A separate List of Characters, in alphabetical order, is also permissible.

Authors are encouraged to submit their work on floppy diskette. These should be in ASCII format (i.e. no word-processing codes), readable by MS-DOS and normally c.60–80Kb in length. Files in common word-processing formats will also be accepted. A printed version must be submitted at the same time. Macintosh files are also accepted. Authors should obtain details on submission in diskette form—including information on conventions for diacritical marks and other accents—from Ian Astley before preparing their files. The SBS recognizes and encourages the use of the Classical Sanskrit (Extended) codes (CSX) for information interchange agreed at the 8th World Conference on Sanskrit Studies.

Guidelines for transcription: for Sanskrit, Pāli and other South Asian languages use the standard system given in A. L. Basham, The Wonder That Was India, Appendix X; for Chinese use the Rnyin system, for Japanese the modified Hepburn system. The standard devised by McCune-Reischauer, “The Romanization of the Korean Language”, Transactions of the Korean Branch, Royal Asiatic Society 29 (1939), pp. 1–55, is to be used for Korean. For Tibetan, use the system recommended by the American Library Association rather than that proposed by Wylie (i.e. ñ, ñ̄, ś, ź rather than ng, ny, sh, zh). Finally, for Mongolian use the system found in Antonie Mostaert, Dictionnaire Ordos, pp. 769–809.

The deadline for the submission of typescripts is the 30th of June in the year of publication. Material for the Forum (5–10 pages/10–20Kb) and Reviews sections may be submitted up to the 31st of August. Material submitted after these dates can only be considered at the discretion of the Editors.
